The United Steelworkers Canadian National Office is seeking to hire a full time staff person to work in our Burnaby, B.C. office as part of the Union's Research, Public Policy & Bargaining Support Department.

Reporting to the USW Canadian National Director and working with the USW District 3 Director and staff, the successful candidate will complete research and public policy projects and provide collective bargaining and strategic campaigns support primarily in Western Canada.

The Union is seeking a person with the following qualifications:

- University degree in economics (or related field), preferably a graduate degree and /or collective bargaining and public policy experience
- Knowledge and/or experience working in the labour movement
- Commitment to improving lives of working people
- Excellent writing, communication and problem solving skills
- Experience working as part of a team in a fluid, fast-paced environment, with minimal supervision
- Background and/or experience working in the resource sector is an asset

The responsibilities of the Research Position will include, but are not limited to:

- Public Policy
 - Support the Union in the analysis of public policy, particularly in areas of labour market issues, resource policy and international trade
 - Draft and present speeches, presentations, submissions, policy papers, and briefing notes
 - Respond to research requests from field staff representatives and Local Unions

The ideal candidate would have:

- Understanding of current public policy debates and experience in the development of alternative policy prescriptions from the perspective of the Canadian labour movement
 - Familiarity with basic concepts of economic policy, and ability to communicate these in simple, understandable terms to union members
- Collective Bargaining Support
 - Provide bargaining support for negotiations, including evaluation of economic impact of improvements, evaluation of specific contract clauses (for example, job evaluation / classification, training) and preparation and presentation of submissions for interest arbitrations
